PORTFOLIO MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The CardinalStone Conservative Investment Plan ("CSCIP") opened for the quarter on 1 July 2015 with an Offer price of ₦1.22 and closed for the quarter at an Offer price of ₦1.21 a return of -1.29%.

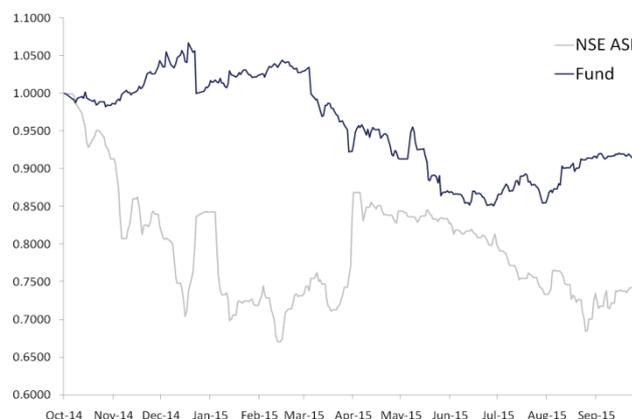

Equities experienced a decline during the quarter as there was no catalyst to spur investors' interest. The delay in the release of the ministerial list and lack of a clear economic direction exerted downward pressure on the stock market. Consequently, The Nigerian Stock Exchange All-Share Index (NSE ASI) lost 6.69% in the quarter, reversing the trend of the previous quarter where it gained 5.39%.

A performance attribution analysis showed that all sectors depreciated during the quarter. The Consumer goods sector topped the losers chart with a decline of 10.65% followed by Oil & Gas sector which saw a decline of 9.65%.

In the bond market, yields on sovereign bonds increased across all tenors. The yields on the 3yr, 7yr, 10yr and 20yr bonds increased by 63bps, 3bps, 21bps and 12bps to close the quarter at 14.98%, 14.91%, 14.98% and 14.98% respectively. Continued tension in the capital market coupled with uncertainties as to the policy direction of the new administration kept yields on the high.

The current bearish sentiment will likely persist this quarter as we envisage weak earnings from many companies in the consumer goods sector given current exchange rate control measures which have considerably limited the access to foreign currency, thereby raising input and operating costs. Earnings in the oil and gas sectors are also expected to be weak given the volatility in crude oil prices and the possibility of further decline. However, some banks with minimal exposure to public sector accounts will likely report modestly strong earnings given the expected net positive impact of the implementation of the Treasury Single Account and reduction of the Cash Reserve Ratio to 25%.
